AMERICAN LEGION PARK

Site Master Plan

American Legion Park

The American Legion Park is designed to offer both recreational activities and peaceful spaces. The park includes three lawn game areas, one of which is a tiered premier section for enhanced play. An arced pergola serves as a central gathering point, and looping nature trails encourage visitors to explore the park. Two pickleball courts are paired with a relaxation area and picnic tables, providing spots for socializing. Native landscaping and stone seating walls help the park blend naturally with its surroundings. Bistro seating and a disc golf course within the trails add more options for visitors. The design ensures easy access and flow, allowing people to enjoy both social areas and quieter, nature-filled spaces.

Central Arbor & Lawn Games

American Legion Park

The Central Arbor and Lawn Games area is a key feature of American Legion Park, thoughtfully designed to encourage both relaxation and activity. The arced arbor, supported by stone columns and topped with wooden beams, provides shade and a place to rest on the stone seating wall beneath it. A water feature adds a calming element, enhancing the peaceful atmosphere, while the surrounding landscaping brings color and vibrancy throughout the seasons. Bistro seating offers a spot to relax and enjoy the view, creating an inviting space for visitors. The lawn games area includes activities like putt-putt, cornhole, Jenga, croquet, and checkers, making it a lively spot for both fun and socializing, and ensuring there's something for everyone to enjoy.

Pickleball & Walking Trails

American Legion Park

The pickleball courts and walking trails in American Legion Park are designed for both activity and relaxation, offering a balanced experience for all visitors. The two fenced pickleball courts have nearby seating and picnic tables, making them inviting for players and spectators alike, and providing a comfortable space for social gatherings. The decomposed granite walking trails weave through the wooded area, offering a natural setting for a peaceful stroll, with the surrounding trees providing shade and tranquility. Disc golf holes along the trails add an extra layer of fun. These trails connect all parts of the park, creating a unified experience where visitors can easily move between different areas while enjoying the natural scenery and engaging in various activities.
